

Save Italians talents

 bebee.com/producer/save-italians-talents

Published in November 21, 2017 on beBee

Introduction

After careful considerations about my personal experience and being acknowledged that in its peculiarity is unique but similar for many others, I decide to share this pledge.

Difficult times require tough decisions

There are a reason and some data that indicates the entire Europe (EU28) got stuck in a strong recessive conjuncture despite the BCE monetary policy tried to masquerade the stepping drop [1].

In such hard times two fundamentals we should not miss: to take courageous decisions and avoid to waste brain-forces. This should be quite easy to understand: without brains, guts drive us away and without gut, the brain do not take actions.

The Italy is shocking blocked

Because the travels I did and the experiences I lived - at this time - I am confident to declare that a large part of Italian talented young people are in high danger to be wasted and thus lost forever without an immediate rescue plan in their favour.

The Italian government and its national subsidiaries, included universities are not able to take care of this mission nor to delivery such result. The façade may seem fine but behind that there is nothing and no one that could drive a significant change (reforms) in a quick time and within an impacting way.

As stated above, for the reasons above, we not may sit on our bottoms hoping for the better or talking with deaf and dumb institutions.

The Europe for talents

We are in charge and we have to take care of the future we are building nowadays. We all, as European citizens, should take on our shoulders this responsibility because nobody else will do for us.

Flowers do not bloom in a hostile or hurting environment and those bloom despite these harsh conditions are rare. We could not accept this waste of opportunities, turning our faces away because the price for ignoring the reality will be devastating.

One falls and others weakening. Greece docet. United, means that we had bound our destinies in a single one. It is time to accept that there is no Europe without Union, without a genuine, trustworthy and engaging union.

Young talents are the first we need to take care because they are the gems of our common future.

A rescue plan is demanded

We cannot allow that the future talents of an European country would be wasted in such a way. Thus, we need to do a lobbyist work in order to shift half of the BCE quantitative easing expected in 2018 for Italy, to create a non-profit foundation in favour of Italian talents for Europe.

In order to fund raising the creation of a national representative subsidiary for each EU28 country which will sustain this position.

To organise a research and development division for each UE28 country which will participate in with a relative percentage of their own BCE quantitative easing share.

The directional head-quarter may stay in Brussels but the best city for a start-up laboratory is Berlin, reading PwC and some UE reports. London would be in the first position but UK proceeding in its exiting strategy [?].

Thanksgiving

Please, share this pledge and the aim of this project among your trustworthy connections, as many as possible and thanks in advance to support this call for action.

Hash-tags suggested

Feel free to add more or invent better ones

#saveitaliantalents #eu4talents #stopwastingbrains

Note

[¹] An article written in Italian by Blonder & Friends which reports some concerning about the Monetary developments in euro area, September 2017. Press Release, 26 October 2017 by European Central Bank Eurosystem.

[²] Executive summary about the two best technical metropolitan areas for technology hubs and starting-up innovative companies.

